Nothing for record in the County Recorder's office to day.

Another largest-in-the-world circus will arrive in Benson in about six weeks.

Several theatrical troupes will visit this city within the next two months.

The dog find is around again poisoning valuable canines.

Mr. A. F. Parades took his departure for Fairbank.

The weather became quite warm this afternoon.

Don't forget the races at Doling's driving park tomorrow. They will be the most extensive ever run in this county.

Everybody will go to the races tomorrow, as all the best horses in the county are entered.

There are letters at the Occidental hotel addressed to Modest Panacera and Ben. Winters.

We received a very pleasant call this afternoon from J. M. Romero, of Fairbank.

In the Andy Mohan case to-day the prosecution rested, whereupon the court adjourned until Monday.

Mr. Geo. Meyers is now to be found at the Palace Dry Goods Store where he will be pleased to meet all his old friends.

The various horsemen were busy engaged in putting their horses in condition for the big races at Doling's track tomorrow.

Our friend Head, directly across from this office, is doing a rushing business in fruit and country, besides keeping a full stock in the grocery line.

Nothing in regard to the condition of the men who were wounded in Benson yesterday morning has been learned up to the hour of going to press.

Frank Broad has removed his saloon business to day from his old stand to Allen street, above Sixth. We wish him success in his new location.

Ex Sheriff W. R. took his departure this afternoon for Phoenix. He took Johnny B. Han's little power with him and expects to win several races at the coming territorial fair.

Steve Dye, special custom house officer who has been at this point for the past six weeks, was taken sick with the malarial fever to-day. It is hoped that his strong constitution will pull him through in a few days.

B. N. James and special officer Hyde arrested a Mexican in this morning about 1 o'clock in the vicinity of Fifth and Bruce streets, who was terrorizing the people in that neighborhood and landed him in the city cooler.

Empty houses are becoming a very scarce article in this burg, and in fact, there is not a dwelling house in town suitable for a family that is to let. This speaks plainer than words and shows that our population is increasing every day.

It would have been much better for Secretary Bayard to have continued to flap in the Delaware pool as a whale, than to have shown himself a little minnow in the National pond. Bayard is the weak man in the present cabinet, and is bound to cause the administration a deal of trouble.—Clarion, (Dem.)

Some interesting facts have been brought out by the investigations of the committee appointed by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to inquire into the destruction of food fish by seals, and it is estimated that about 4,000 seals consume 120 tons of fish every day, or nearly 44,000 tons a year—an amount sufficient to supply 300,000 people, and greater than the present consumption of that city and its suburban towns. Fishermen declare the seals must go.

Dr. J. H. Lacey was, last week, unanimously elected physician to the Detroit Copper Company, and will in future have his office at Morenci. The Dr. has been in Clifton but a brief period, but during that time has made many friends, both here and at the mines, who are pleased to know that he will become a permanent resident in our midst. With professional skill he combines social qualities and has been on the frontier sufficiently long to beat home anywhere and under any circumstances.—Clarion.

The track which was washed out near Pariano a few days since, has been repaired sufficiently to allow of the passage of passenger trains, and will be repaired completely so as to allow of the passage of freight trains in a few days. Two passenger trains arrived in Benson last night, and the delayed mails and express matter will arrive in this city to-night.

On and after October 1st, 1885, persons who desire can have letters delivered in Tucson immediately on their arrival by a. flying, in addition to the regular postage, a special ten cent stamp. This is in accordance with the law passed by the last Congress, which provided for the immediate delivery of important letters. Tucson is the only office in the two territories which is entitled to the special delivery system.

One of the attractions at Doling's race track tomorrow will be an ascension by John Sullivan in a flying machine. This is an invention of Mr. Sullivan's and it is thought to be the only successful flying machine in the world. Mr. Sullivan made a trip from Tombstone in his machine to Fairbank last night, and it was a perfect success. Tomorrow afternoon he will ascend from Doling's track and alight on the top of the Dragoon mountains. This he agrees to do in the short space of 45 minutes. No one should fail to be present and see Mr. Sullivan make the trip in his new airship.

Mr. Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun, who has only rendered perfunctory tributes to the memory of Grant, since that great man passed away, chiefly because he feared that the American people considered Grant a greater man than he, now says that Rawlins, and not Grant, deserves the credit for the victory at Vicksburg, and that "the history of that day is a vet to be written." Mr. Dana is in a very poor place to make such a statement, and he will consent to the possession of perfect greatness in no man but himself. His phenomenal egotism makes him singularly obtuse at times to the public sentiment of the country, and his attempt to rob Grant of the honors he won at Vicksburg, and give them to a man who never earned them, shows how wrong his opinions are, and how much of a vain man he sometimes is led by his prejudice and vanity.

Sandy Bob took a trip to St. David's this morning to buy up hay and barley.

W. K. Meade and F. M. Murphy arrived in Benson last night, and came up in a private conveyance this morning.

The cold wave has struck this section of the country, as the thermometer registered but 74 at noon today.

W. K. Meade, U. S. Marshal, returned to his home in Tombstone this morning, from Tucson.

F. M. Murphy, Commissioner to the World's Fair at New Orleans, arrived in this city this morning from Tucson.

F. M. Murphy, Prescott, Geo. Downing, Los Angeles; G. W. McLane, Montezuma ranch; A. F. Parades, Fairbank; L. Goldwater, Bisbee; G. W. Harkin, Oakland; Henry Hurlit, Jr., Wisconsin; are registered at the Occidental hotel.

Joeliah H. White, superintendent of the Contention mine, will take his departure for California tomorrow. He recently bought a herd of thoroughbred calves numbering 40 head, for which he paid the sum of $18,000.

All persons who are interested in sending specimens to the New Orleans Exposition, should call at once on Commissioner Murphy at the Occidental Hotel, and learn full particulars. Mr. Murphy states that the coming exposition will eclipse the last, and that public interest in its success is general all over the United States.

The cheering announcement is just made that the mines of Tombstone are starting up with an increased number of men. Tombstone is the only town in the Territory that has done anything to build up Arizona's reputation as a mining country, and the Clarion sincerely hopes the bonanza camp is about entering upon an era of great prosperity.—Clarion.

The daughter of Lucky Baldwin, the California millionaire, passed through on the south-bound train on her way to the Pacific coast. She was adorned with a Mother Hubbard and numerous diamonds whose brilliancy almost equalled the flash of her bold black eyes. She is the divorced wife of Bud Double, the well known driver of fast trotters, and has managed to catch on to an insipid little dude with his hair parted in the middle, who was in her company when she passed through Albuquerque. He bore the same relation to her that a charming little pet dog would—such a darling, you know.—Albuquerque Journal.

Immediately after the death of General Grant a movement was inaugurated in New York city to perpetuate the memory and fame of the hero, whom, in life, the Republic delighted to honor, the cost of which should not be less than one million dollars. The patriotic pulse of the people throughout the whole nation beat with approval of a measure so eminently appropriate and there were few so skeptical as to doubt that means sufficient could easily be secured to raise the most magnificent monumental structure of modern times. But when the fact became known that the metropolitan city arrogated to itself the honor of being the site of the proposed structure, and would entertain no other proposition, interest in the project declined until it has become apparent that if the monument is to be built on the site selected by that city it must be done at the expense of the same. The proposition for a national monument to be erected on national ground, is one which is well received and the means would not be wanting to raise towards the skies a marble and granite shaft worthy of him whose fame it will commemorate. The place of sepulchre is not always the site of the monument sacred to the memory of one whom a nation honors. The remains of Washington repose in a retired spot at Mount Vernon, while the faithful marble which preserves his image and the engraved brass which proclaims his worth, have been placed by a grateful people, near the National Capitol known by his name. If a national monument is to be erected to the memory of the hero, lately dead, let it be at some point of national importance, such as West Point or Washington, in which all the people have an interest, and let it be an expression of feeling from the whole nation.

The city of New York, with its mighty population, vast wealth, and power, has become unpopular with a large element of the American people. It is regarded as non-American in many respects and is becoming fearfully more so. The wealthy and so-called aristocratic element of that city, which is large and rapidly increasing, are so fully imbued with the manners and customs of foreign nations, and especially the English, that they ape them in their walk and conversation, even to the intonation of voice in pronouncing the most familiar words known to our vernacular. It has become to a great and unpardonable extent an Anglo-American city where the republican simplicity of our fathers exists but in name. Those wealthy nabobs who have accumulated vast riches by fortunate speculations or other questionable means, go abroad to squander their wealth and return often-times with contempt for our institutions and intensely imbued with non-American ideas. New York is not the place where a national monument to General Grant should be built. If that city desires to honor the memory of the illustrious dead, let it, of its own accord, follow the example of San Francisco, and other cities, of less importance, furnish means from its own resources for so doing and call not for assistance from abroad.

Read and Ponder.

About six years ago the Townsite company had the site where Tombstone now stands surveyed and applied for a patent, which was afterwards granted the Mayor in trust for the actual settlers therein, but which through some chicanery was transferred to the Townsite company. In the meantime people had come in and settled upon the land and built costly buildings upon their lots and settled down in peace, but this was not to last long, for the Townsite company commenced suit against the occupants and the settlers, to avoid trouble, in many instances bought their titles, thinking to be relieved from further trouble, but in this they were again mistaken, for Messrs. Field and Sanford, who owned a prospect hole called the Gilded Age, thinking to make more money by fleecing the people than by digging for silver, commenced to war upon all who occupied any lots upon the surface ground of their mine, which extends over the best portion of town, and Field made a living blackmailing property holders. Another portion of the town is located upon another worthless property called the Mountain Maid mine, which is claimed by one Fordie Roper, and he, through his attorney, has made war upon the property holders. A short time since the Mountain Maid, the Gilded Age and Way Up, and the Townsite pooled their issues and the property has passed into the hands of Judge Berry, Judge Satterwhite and Judge Hoover, who have commenced to war upon our citizens, and the time has come when patience ceases to be a virtue, and our citizens are now determined to combine and fight for their homes, and the Daily Tombstone proposes to stand by the people in their fight for their rights against such leeches as Berry, who holds a power of attorney from Fordie Roper, and Satterwhite, a non resident, who got his claim from whom the Lord only knows, and Hoover, who came here as District Judge expressly to rob the people of their titles by his decisions, (at least that was the general impression at that time, and one of the causes of his Hoover's removal) and who got his interest presumably in payment for his assistance, but who has never had a residence in Cochise county. These are the three that are trying to rob the people of their homes.

When troubles arise of this kind the people must have some public way of exchanging their ideas and recording their doings; and where can they turn but to a newspaper. But the question comes, is there a newspaper in town that will stand by the people? It is well known that Judge Berry, one of the chief conspirators, is the owner of the Record-Epiphany and that he will not heed the people who now support him and his paper, but the Daily Tombstone which is not owned nor controlled by any clique or ring, has shown during its existence that it is the people's paper, and it can not be bought off against the people, but will stick or swim with them. We hope that all of our citizens who are interested in this land dispute on the Way Up, Gilded Age and Mountain Maid mines, will leave their name and the number of their lots at this office. Remember citizens who you have got to fight, Messrs. Berry, Hoover, Roper and Satterwhite.

We received a very pleasant call this afternoon from Frank M. Murphy, who is one of the Board of Directors of the New Orleans Exposition, which will re-open in that city in November next. Mr. Murphy stated that every county in this territory had a fine display there, the same as that which was sent last year but the Cochise Exhibit is in New York, having been given to parties there by Commissioner Maxon and he asks our citizens to prepare another one for New Orleans which we hope they will do. Mr. Murphy is at the Occidental and will explain the matter to our citizens. On Monday we shall publish a statement of affairs and the reason why an exhibition should be forwarded.

WILL CONTAIN DAILY A RESUME OF

The Local Happening Of The Lively town Of Charleston And Will

Be Edited By Samuel McClaren, Who will Take Subscription and make Advertising Contracts

Charleston.

Mr. Ham, of the Hanchuca Cattle company, is in town on business.

The thermometer registered 76 degrees to-day.

There will be services at the church this evening, at which the Rev. David McFawn will preside.

Still another saloon will be opened at this place short-ly.

Horse racing has been off for the past few days.

There were several strange Mexicans in Charleston to-day.

A stranger passed through here to-day and reported that five people had been killed in the Patagonia mountains near Harshaw.

Everybody in Charleston will attend services this evening except Geo. A. L. we.

Any person who knows the whereabouts of Joe Smith will confer a favor by addressing a postal card to Geo. A. Lowe of this place.

Jimmy Carr's Hanchuca herder was in to day and reports his herd of thoroughbred horses in fine condition.

It will do some of the Charleston boys good to listen to the discourse of the Rev. David McFawn this evening.

Now is the time for the people of Charleston to have photographs of themselves and family taken, as Mr. Rothrock, of Phoenix, is here, and has a fine reputation as a photographer.

Charleston has more single men in it than any other town in the United States for its size, and this taken with the fact that the town is full of pretty girls, now old bachelors, brace up and have some style about you, Willie & Garlock have fine baggys and stock for you to go courting with and the Rev. David McFawn will be here every week and will tie the knot. Don't say you can't afford it, because it will cost you less than one night's run in Tombstone, at least if you spend the same amount as Geo. Lowe did, $75, and you can get the little boy team; but what is $75 to a Charleston barber.

How a $70 trip would hurt some of the Tombstone barbers.

Three teams loaded with provisions for the soldiers at the line will pass through here to night.

Walter Gibbons passed through here yesterday from Harshaw, on his way to Tombstone.

Our school is well attended, and the children and the teacher, Miss Ella Fay, are all well rested and in good spirit since their vacation.

Our school board showed wisdom and good judgment in the re-election of Miss Ella Fay as teacher of the public school.

Several parties who read Sandy Bob's advertisement of graded bulls for sale wonder why he did not include himself.

Messrs. Katzenstein and Stuart, members of the school board, paid a visit to the school to-day and found everything in good shape.

The Courtney boys have arrived in town with a load of fine chickens, which they are selling to our merchants.

We are pleased to be able to state that Mrs. W. B. Hopkins is much better and will be able to be around again in a few days.

We think it would be in good taste for Judges Berry, Hoover and Satterwhite to pay the taxes upon the Gilded Age and Way Up mines before they begin trying to eject people off of the the surface ground of those mines. Each year the taxes upon these mines have become delinquent, and for the past two years they have been sold for taxes, and Judge Berry, one of these land sharks and proprietor of the Record-Epiphany, has steadily refused to pay either city or county taxes, but as soon as they want to raise some money, they commence suits in our County Court, which they don't pay a dollar to maintain, but which are maintained by the honest citizens who own the lots from which this interesting trio are seeking to use the machinery of the law to eject them from their homes. Citizens, tax payers and property holders, will you support this Record-Epiphany any longer when its owner is now trying to eject you from your homes and business, and you never find in its columns a word of support? We say no, you will not, then it is the case, bestow your advertising patronage and subscription upon THE DAILY TOMSTONE, which is always on the side of the people.

The Mexican arrested this morning by Constable James and Officer Hyde was fined $1 and costs or seventeen days in jail by Recorder Gaston. He went to jail.

The Russ House will give another of their famous chicken dinners to-morrow, consisting of roast chicken, plum pudding, fruits and in fact, all the delicacies of the season.

Ho, for the Races.

The best races of the season will be run on Doling's Race Track to-morrow. All of the best horses in the county will be in attendance. Amongst the many well known ones will be BROKEN LEG, RED EYE, NIGGER BABY, FASHION, and the famous HUACHUCA BAY. The first race will be a quarter of a mile dash for a purse of $200, six horses to enter, viz: Rose's mare, Lobacco's Brown Dick; Robert's Black; Rathburn's Baldy, and Jones' Dolly. After this heat a half mile dash will be run between the points above mentioned.
